

OGC gives you another low-cost improvement opportunity! On-line seminars coming back in the spring!

After the success of our on-line seminars this fall, and after hearing from participants that these courses are a true investment, we decided to repeat the experience by offering five more on-line seminars in spring 2010.

Designed for users of OGC-Plus, these seminars will help you unlock the full potential of this powerful tool. Discover the best way to improve your methods and optimize your work.

Take these on-line sessions to hear industry experts share their expertise: get their advice on how you can optimize your work and save an incredible amount of time.

The on-line format means that you can attend the seminar without having to travel.

One or more people can also attend the same seminar at a single rate of $80.*

OGC maintains role as leader in the industry

To keep up with market developments and to reinforce its expertise, OGC continually aligns itself with industry leaders and maintains a constant in-store presence. For example, this fall OGC began a partnership with Hardlines and served as an official sponsor of their annual conference in October, which brought together key decision makers in the hardware and home improvement industry from across Canada. OGC will keep this partnership going by participating at many Hardlines events in the years to come while maintaining a visibility in their weekly newsletter.

As you may have read in the September issue of Info-Plus, OGC will also be a sponsor of AQMAT's golf tournaments in Montréal and Québec City for a second consecutive year in order to maintain a presence in both regions. You may have also met OGC experts at AQMAT's networking dinners or its decision-makers conference.
