OGC adds SpruceWare.NET to its product line

MONTREAL, October 26, 2011 – OGC is announcing a new partnership agreement with software company Spruce Computer Systems for the commercial rights to its SpruceWare.NET product in the Canadian market.

Through this agreement, OGC has gained the exclusive rights to sell, implement and support SpruceWare.NET in Canada. This new offering will enhance OGC's product line so that it can better meet the specific needs of its customers in the hardware and building materials industries.

“OGC and Spruce have very similar profiles and backgrounds: both companies are recognized for their industry knowledge and close relationships with customers. We are convinced that pooling our know-how will help us assist customers even better to improve their service and maximize their profits,” explained Patrick Du Paul, Executive Vice President and General Manager at OGC. “This partnership will now allow us to offer an alternative and comprehensive management solution based on the most recent Windows® technology that is already being used by more than 250 retailers in the American market.”

With this addition, the OGC product line now gives customers even greater choice when it comes to a management solution that best reflects their individual business reality.
